According to Buddhist scriptures, the udumbara is a sacred flower that comes from the Buddha's realms, and blossoms once every 3,000 years. The flower's name means "auspicious flower from heaven." It is of the purest white. Through capturing these flowers, the photographer celebrates the 22nd World Falun Dafa Day and the 29th anniversary of Falun Dafa's introduction to the public, both of which fell on May 13, 2021.

The last photo is the enlargement of one flower, which looks like the emblem of a Falun.

Painting: Compassionate Calls

May 20, 2021 | By a Falun Dafa practitioner in Heilongjiang Province, China

(Minghui.org)

On May 13, 1992, Mr. Li Hongzhi first publicly introduced Falun Dafa to the public in China. Since then, Falun Dafa has spread quickly across China and in the rest of the world. Due to its popularity, the Chinese communist regime ordered a nationwide persecution of Falun Dafa in 1999. Despite the risk of being arrested, tortured and imprisoned, Falun Dafa practitioners have never wavered in their faith and they have been working hard to peacefully raise awareness about the persecution.

This painting is based on a true event where Falun Dafa practitioners held banners along a train track to tell train passengers the facts of the practice. The artist wants to dedicate this work to the 22nd World Falun Dafa Day on May 13, 2021.

Painting: A Practitioner in Severe Storm

May 20, 2020 | By a Falun Gong practitioner in Canada

(Minghui.org)

Product description: Practitioners of Falun Gong were holding a public event on the lawn in front of the Parliament buildings in Ottawa, Canada.

When I arrived, I saw that our practitioners were rushing away, loading the last of their equipment into cars and leaving.

There was heavy rain, and powerful winds were picking up debris and small stones and scattering them everywhere. The sky was dark and ominous.

Then I saw the lone practitioner sitting calmly, unmoved. I wanted to rush to join him/her so I pushed the car door hard. But even though I opened it slightly, I could not stand, let alone cross the wide Parliament Hill lawn.

It was only then that I spotted the funnel cloud moving toward the east, toward Parliament. But the tornado did not touch down, there was no disaster, just beautiful cultivation.

I still do not know who he was that was so firm and righteous on that day.

Oil Painting: Compassionate Glow

May 20, 2020 | By a Falun Gong practitioner Ioanna Kalogirou from Cyprus

(Minghui.org)

Size: 50 cm (no frame)

I was inspired by a picture I saw, of an old lady, participating in a peaceful protest about the persecution of Falun Dafa in China. I felt her expression was serene and compassionate.

Through this painting I wish to express the benefits of practicing in Falun Dafa. I wish to share with others the benefits of following a true discipline guided by the universal principles of Truthfulness, Compassion and Forbearance.

Thank you venerable Master Li, for all that you have offered to the world, unconditionally.
